Synopsis

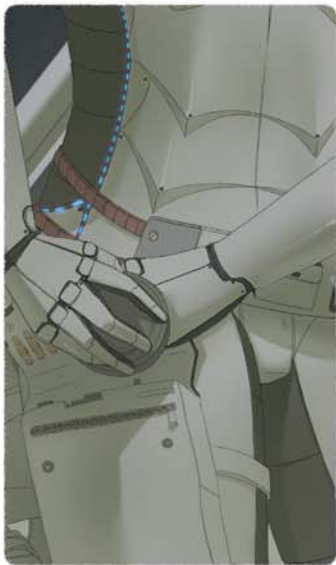

An artificial intelligence is created to save the Earth from global warming, but, instead, ends up hunting humans.

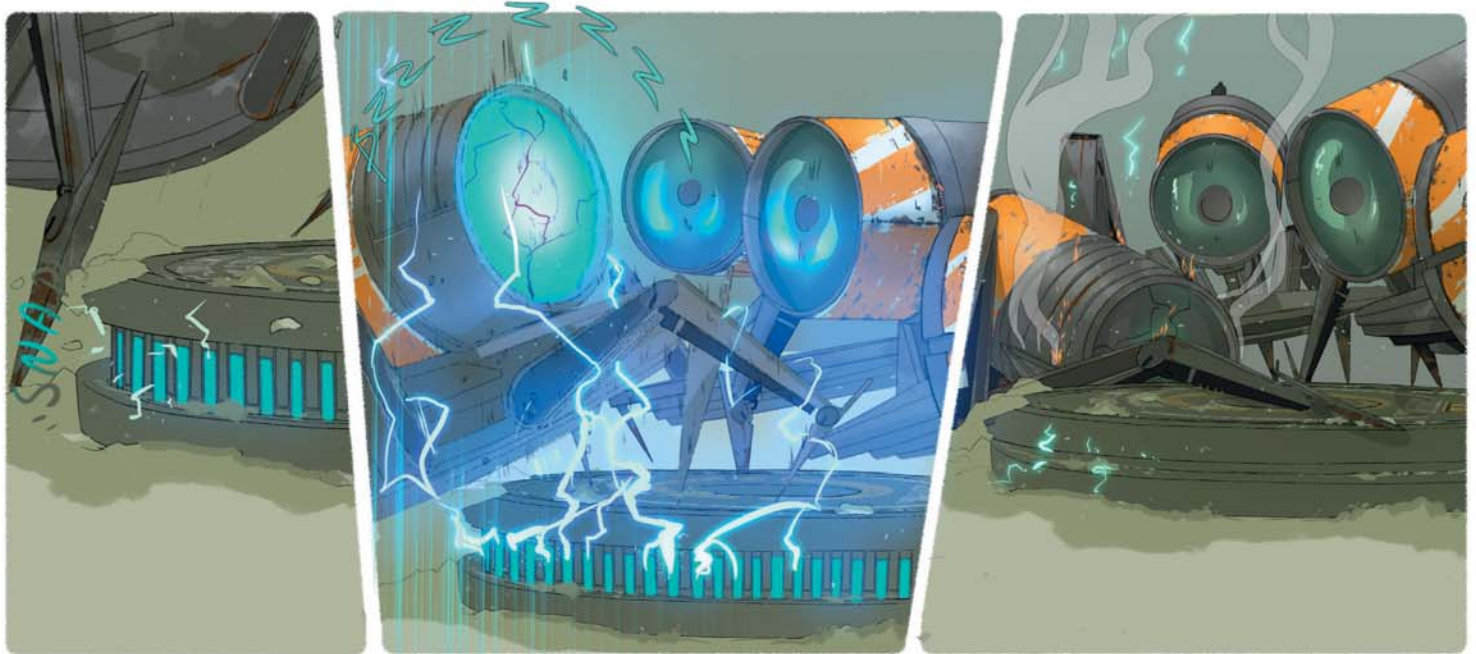

Kiem, the artificial intelligence, has turned against mankind. An unexplained deep freeze has turned Earth almost uninhabitable, forcing humans to retreat to the few shelters that can protect them from the cold. But in addition to the cold, there are vicious killing machines out there aiming to end mankind. Commanded by Kiem, these autonomous weapons roam the freezing outside world and kill everyone they encounter.

Avarus, the lone remaining soldier, defends as many survivors as he can, while his brother Victor lives a nice, safe life in Dock Seven. But when a sudden attack destroys Avarus's city, he receives a mysterious message from his brother, whom he thought was dead...
